

Director's Message

I am delighted to launch the newly designed website of our Institute. Through this platform, we hope that our clients, well-wishers, and society at large will have greater opportunities to learn about our activities and contributions.

As a premier R&D institute under the Council of Scientific & Industrial Research (CSIR), established in 1961, we have consistently strived to fulfill our mandate and mission by providing impactful R&D outputs for the development of the North East region and the nation as a whole.

As a key player in Science and Technology, the Institute is committed to achieving higher standards in research and development. We actively promote the translation of laboratory innovations to real-world applications, contribute to the development of skilled scientific and technical manpower, foster entrepreneurship, and strengthen collaborations with academic institutions, research laboratories, and industries.

Progress and change are constant, and at CSIR-NEIST, we embrace them with enthusiasm. The launch of our new website is one such step toward becoming more accessible and engaging for society.

The homepage offers a comprehensive overview of the institute through a well-structured layout, making the site faster, easier to navigate, and more user-friendly. We are committed to continuously providing visitors with up-to-date information while sharing our knowledge and expertise in the field of Science and Technology.

The "Research Highlights" section features significant published research articles that will benefit the scientific community. Visitors can also stay informed about upcoming events at the institute and connect with us through platforms such as Facebook, Twitter, and YouTube.

Additionally, users can explore our R&D facilities, outputs, technologies, testing and analytical services, campus details, and reach out to us for queries or feedback.

We hope you find our new website informative, resourceful, and enriching. Your feedback is invaluable in helping us enhance our activities and services.

Finally, I extend my sincere congratulations to the website team, as well as all my colleagues and members of the CSIR-NEIST family, for their dedication and hard work in making this initiative a success.
